

I am baffled and annoyed by the decision to exempt radio and television stations from complying with the provisions of the national "Do Not Call" list. There is NO difference in the impact or intent of these calls vs. those which have been made subject to the provisions of this law, and I strongly urge the FCC to close this loophole immediately.

Failing that, I ask that the members of the FCC post their home phone numbers on their web site so that the public they are supposed to be protecting might be able to share their opinions of this ill-conceived exception with them. Between 6:00 PM and 9:00 PM, of course.
